Art by Poetic Justice, a Herstory Workshop Participant

This reading series reflects the international, intergenerational, and multicultural network of Herstory Writing Workshop participants. Some readers have worked with Herstory for decades and others have just begun. During this reading series, all of us may hear stories about experiences, lifestyles, and dreams that challenge our own. As writers sharing our lives with strangers, and as listeners sharing in the lives of strangers, we hope that these community readings will build connections across differences.
